You have been selected to serve on a panel on Saturday morning "Working with Congress and Other Stakeholders to Advance the Administration's Priorities." This is an opportunity for you to share your experience and offer insights into how the Administration is doing at the six month mark.

To prepare you for your role as a panelist, we are attaching a briefing document containing information on the panel along with a list of panelists and the moderator. You will also be receiving a briefing book at the beginning of next week with an agenda and other materials.

The questions included in the attached document are for you to reflect on as a way to prepare yourself for the discussion.

If you have any questions, please let us know.

Thank you for your contribution to ensuring the program's success.
