As for the other Arabs, [redacted] concerned about the spoilers, not the moderates, especially Syria. In our approach to them, he advises us to avoid being negative; we should indicate that their constructive behavior at Sirte will be seen by us as a positive sign of their intentions toward us and comp peace.

He did not know which heads were coming, but said neither Kings Abdullah would go.

Abdullah is not going, incidentally. Can NEA do a check through embassies on who is expected?; low turnout is advantageous, unless the extremists predominate among those who do go [Redacted]

Both Mubarak and Abdullah are strongly supportive of our current, short term approach. Mubarak sees Abbas Tues and will advise him to maintain in public and at Sirte that he is ready for direct talks in the right circumstances, and Egypt will support him. Abdullah of same mind, but focused on making sure Abbas makes the right presentation. Abbas was pulling up to compound as we were pulling out. I plan to get readout [Redacted] said the task at Sirte would be easier with 'something' more to work with.

Senator, David -- Any readout you can share from the meetings with Mubarak and Abdullah?

Thanks,

Dan
