Nice piece. Shows what Public Diplomacy can do if it has the resources. Sadly just not in the cards for the rest of the world.

Some of you may have seen PAS Kabul's short video "U.S. Public Diplomacy in Afghanistan" in January 2011 when former Communications Director David Ensor showed it during his consultations in Washington. Attached is an updated version of that video, with new footage from more public diplomacy programs in Afghanistan, including the youth-oriented Pashto-language serial drama  cultural heritage projects, sports programs, and more.
