I am taking an email/media holiday for the month of August. Unless you are writing about Woodrow Wilson School student/faculty business, in connection with a writing commitment that I have already undertaken, or in connection with family matters, please send your message in September. I will NOT be going back through August email. If it is absolutely essential that you contact me, please send a message to Terry Murphy at [redacted]. If you have a speaking invitation, please contact Alicia Marchessault of the American Program Bureau at [redacted].
