

RELEASE IN PART B5

---

From: Sullivan, Jacob J <SullivanJJ@state.gov>
Sent: Monday, July 18, 2011 1:41 AM
To: H
Subject: Fw: Opposition leader

Fyi

----- Original Message -----

From: Hormats, Robert D
Sent: Monday, July 18, 2011 01:37 AM
To: Sullivan, Jacob J
Subject: Opposition leader

Hi Jake,

In several ways,

B5

The example of Kim Dae Jung in Korea is a good one: as a candidate for pres he bitterly opposed the IMF program. But then supported in the national interest -- which not only saved the economy from bankruptcy but lead to its dramatic revival. And he came across as a hero for putting the national interest above party interests and for the ultimate success of the policy. I was financial advisor to Korea at the time -- and the national unity this produced had a profound impact on markets and respect for korea around the world.

See you soon,
Bob