Susan: I had intended to call you prior to setting off for the DRC, but didn't have an opportunity to do so last week. The Secretary has decided to appoint a new special advisor for the DRC and the Great Lakes, filling the position left vacant by Howard Wolpe's departure. It was agreed that the person should be a former ambassador with solid French language skills, a good knowledge of the area and good bureaucratic/interagency skills. We came up with two names
